MEMORANDUM TO CHIEFS OF FIELD BUREAUS AND POSTS

SUBJECT: AIR SHIPMENT OF SUPPLIES

It has come to my attention that in a number of instances in recent months supplies have been requisitioned for shipment by air to relieve pressing shortages at several field offices.

It is obvious that the necessity for air transportation of heavy materials can normally be due only to mismanagement on the part of someone concerned. In the future such air shipments will not be authorized except in demonstrated emergencies, and such emergencies must not arise through lack of foresight, negligence or error on the part of any FBI employee.

Chief, FBI
